The Hi-‘S’ Range

The Hi-'S' rods are fast or semi-fast actions utilising perhaps the best Japanese carbon available. These rods have a Low Resin 40t with a 1k weave in 24t giving them an attractive finish. Benefits are very slim, lightweight but stiff blanks, which have crisp responsive actions. They will 'assist' the average caster and good caster alike, as they have a very fast tip recovery, but are still relatively soft to aid fish playing. The range features the 'Perdurable' blank finish for a lifetime of service and good looks. We use this material for carp, specialist and specialist float rods. The range is hand built in the U.K.

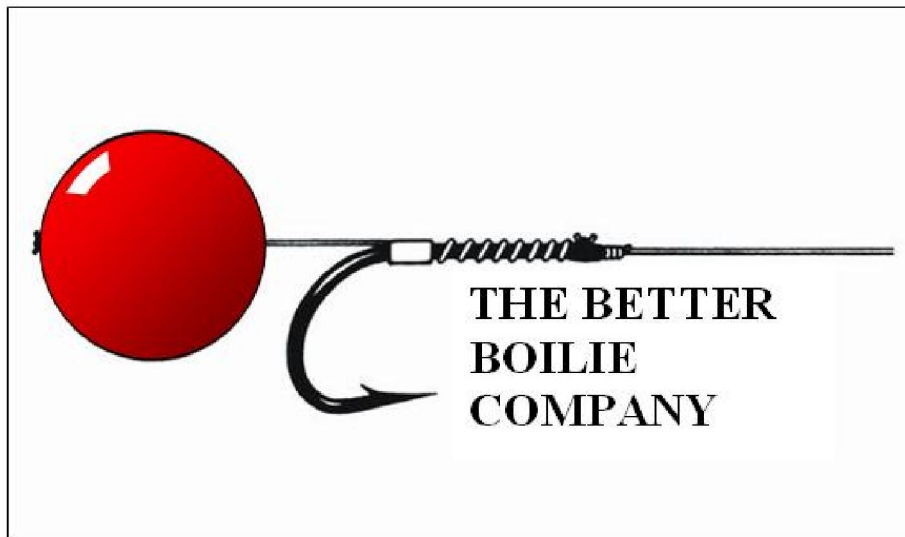

The ‘S’ Range

These rods are progressive and semi-progressive actions and are loved by anglers wanting good casting performance, but with the delights of fish playing. The 'S' Range blanks use top quality 36t Low Resin Japanese carbon with a highly attractive 24t weave in 3k and are very suitable all-rounders (except the X.S'ive). The blanks also have the 'Perdurable' (lifetime) blank finish to look good for many years. This top quality carbon is used for carp, specialist and stalking rods. These rods are also hand built in the U.K.

The Tamer X-Wraps

This new range of rods is very affordable with progressive and semi-progressive actions that most anglers will find suitable. The blanks are made from a combination of 36t and 32t high modulus carbons and feature a very distinctive carbon X-Wrap with a subtle matt finish. The strong blanks are very light. These rods can be custom built in the U.K. at a small extra cost. We offer both carp and specialist rods in this finish

Firstly I would like to thank you for taking the time to read this information about The Better Boilie Company.

The Better Boilie Company was founded by me, Luke Dixon, in 2011. I have been a carp angler for 27 years, 22 of which I have made my own bait. Beginning with humble commercially available mixes and then quickly progressing in to bait formulation myself. Originally from the UK, I moved to Australia in 2004 and have since dedicated a large amount of time to sourcing locally available, quality ingredients to enable me to continue to have the best available food source bait to offer the carp I enjoy catching so much. Originally I sourced the ingredients with the aim of allowing myself continued access to fresh, quality bait with a balanced nutritional profile (BNV). Since sourcing the required ingredients and "tooling up" to be able to roll the quantities that I wanted to be able to use regularly, I was inundated with requests from like minded Anglers who want to use a good BNV bait but, either do not have the knowledge, time or resources to be able to make it themselves. Through those initial contacts I decided to make my baits available to all.

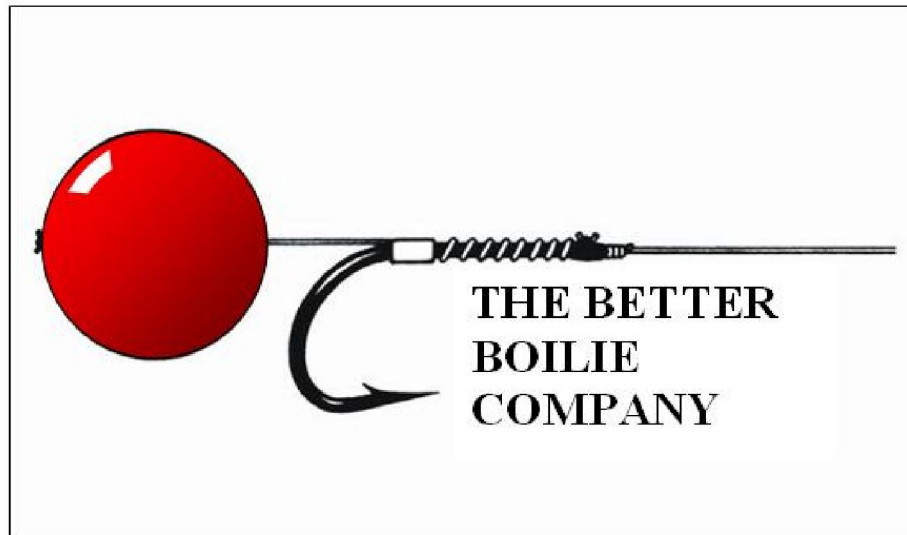

I can't begin to stress the importance of using a high quality BNV food bait when it comes to catching carp on a regular basis. A bait formulated with nutritional ingredients will be sending out food signals long after the liquid attractors have been dispersed, this due to the fact that the ingredients themselves will be breaking down and sending out messages of food into the surrounding water.

Cheaper attractor type baits that have little or no nutritional value might sound more attractive on the pocket, but they will cost you dearly when it comes to producing the goods. Once any liquid attractors have dispersed, the bait will not be sending out any food signals at all, but further to this, will have no ongoing nutritional benefit whatsoever.

Carp, like all other fish, soon learn to recognise a food source and will continue to eat it again and again if it provides them with a sense of nutritional satisfaction. They have the ability to detect a nutritional food source prior to consumption (food signals coming from the bait) and after ingestion. With this in mind, I have developed what I believe to be the highest quality range of nutritional food baits available.

All my baits use the freshest available ingredients, brought in small enough quantities to ensure that we can keep everything as fresh as possible. The baits are rolled fresh to order and then posted out to you. They do not contain preservatives or anything artificial. The baits will require to be frozen once they are received by you. If freezer space is a premium we can air dry your baits for you but that does require extra time between order and dispatch due to the air drying process. Please note that as all bait is rolled fresh to order, it is also possible to offer a custom rolling service. So, if you want us to add your own "secret" attractor package to one of our BNV mixes we will endeavour to accommodate your request. We also have all of our boilies available in a base mix form should you wish to roll them at home with your own "special extras"

Once again, Thanks for taking the time to read this information and I hope that The Better Boilie Company can be of service to you soon.

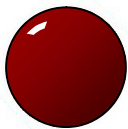

The Range

“The Profile”

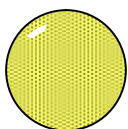

“The Profile” is a Fishmeal based boilie that offers the best Balanced nutritional profile of all our range, It covers all the bases at optimised levels to ensure not just short term attraction but also long term acceptability. Due to its incredible nutritional package it also offers a real benefit to the fish over the period that it is applied with the aim of being accepted as part of the carps natural food sources.

“Amino Heat”

What more can I say about this little beauty, It's big, bold and spicy as hell. Not a boilie for the faint hearted. Using an alternative protein source and the added benefits of grains and seeds to aid in attraction leakage and breakdown makes this bait a serious contender for the all year round bait of choice.

Can you take the heat!

“The Nuts”

“The Nuts” is a milk protein based bait with a distinct sweet nutty flavour. I have no doubt that this will be the ideal bait for those hardened winter campaigns. As with all our range “The Nuts” still manages to tick all the boxes in regard to the other nutritional requirements of the carp, careful though as you may well become addicted to them yourself

One of the best things about Korda fishing tackle is that you can find so much information on it before you try or buy the tackle, Korda strive to give anglers as much information as they possibly can so that their products will be used to the best of their abilities and will maintain a high standard in the industry. The amount of information that Korda provides for its anglers is of very high quality and is very informative for all anglers.

Korda fishing tackle ranges are extensive to say the least and offer very high quality products for reasonable prices. The Korda fishing tackle ranges from rigs to leads to systems and all of them live up to anglers' expectations and have the durability needed with your fishing tackle gear.

One good thing about Korda fishing tackle is that they believe "why should you have different sizes for each part of your gear", this is a great philosophy because they make one size for all and make each bit of your gear interchangeable so that you do not have to spend more money on different size equipment than you need as one size fits all with Korda.

Another great philosophy that Korda undertakes is that they will check their products all the time checking for quality and design, where if the Korda fishing tackle would not be used by them themselves, it will not be shipped out to customers as they use the "I won't use, I won't sell" method.

All of the Korda fishing tackle range has been developed by anglers for anglers so you can guarantee that when purchasing a piece of equipment from them you are buying quality goods that many happy anglers have used as well as you.

You can probably tell so far that Korda want to make sure that their products are at the best standard and of the highest quality, but also because of what I said at the start about the information they provide, it edges them in front of the competition even further. The information available on Korda fishing tackle is extensive and ranges from pamphlets to DVDs. Because of all this information which they have strived to make available customers feel a lot more secure and happy because they always get quality products along with the correct information to use it.

Because Korda do not just use a couple of anglers to go out and use their tackle but carefully select some of the most knowledgeable anglers around the country, that have so many different fishing styles, you know that your Korda fishing tackle is going to be used correctly no matter what fishing style you have as there is always information made available for it.
